REPORT OF THE

SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Citizens of Hillsborough:

In rendering an account of the condition of the schools in town the past year, it is a pleasure to be able to report that a good degree of progress has been made. While it cannot reasonably be expected that the district schools should attain to that proficiency achieved in graded schools, it is certainly desirable that the children receive the best instruction possible for the money expended; and it would naturally seem that most of the prudential committees had this thought in mind when engaging In the majority of cases, the services of those of experience and well-known ability have been secured, while a few without experience, but known as bright, thorough scholars, have been allowed to take charge of the schools, and have proved themselves worthy the confidence reposed in them. This assertion is made, not only on my own judgment, but I have taken pains to make inquiries of parents in districts where they have been employed, and find that they have given universal In fact, I have in all cases endeavored to satisfaction. ascertain the feelings of parents with regard to the several teachers; and, with one or two exceptions, have received the most favorable reports. Not that there was a uniformity in their characteristics, but that each showed some excellent qualification. There has been no complaint made of any teacher; and, so far as your committee knows, the most perfect harmony has existed between all parties concerned. Some of the districts have been favored with teachers especially adapted to the requirements of that particular school, and in all such cases I would earnestly urge their continued services, even at an additional expense. Although I believe the schools of 1884-5 equal in point of merit to those of former years, and that they compare favorably with those of other towns, they are by no means perfect. While, without exception, the teachers have appeared to be earnest and faithful in the discharge of their duties, they have not received that co-operation from parents and committee they deserved, and had a right to expect. Had they, I doubt not the schools would have attained a still higher plane of excellence. Not until parents exhibit more interest in the education of their children, will our district schools be all that is desired. Hire only good teachers; pay them what their services are worth; let all visit their schools frequently, and see for themselves that the teachers are faithful to their trusts: show their children that they are interested in their studies; have them punctual in attendance, and the good results arising from the adoption of this method will be so gratifying that the payment of the small school tax assessed will be rendered a pleasure.

REPORT BY DISTRICTS.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

The schools in this district are under the supervision of a board of education who will make their report at the end of the school year.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Sylvester Wood, Prudential Committee.

Two terms,—Summer and Fall,—taught by Miss J. Amanda Leach of Bradford. Over forty terms' experience prove Miss Leach a thorough, competent and faithful teacher, and the pupils under her charge made good progress. Discipline excellent throughout both terms.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

WILLIAM MERRILL, Prudential Committee.

Winter term of thirteen weeks was taught by Ned D. Webber. The teacher, in his method of instruction, was broad, practical and thorough, allowing no intricate question to pass without a complete understanding, and introducing into the school several new ideas that were of great value to the scholars in helping them to a clear comprehension of the text. Discipline excellent; progress marked. The teacher humorously remarks that the confidence the parents reposed in him was shown by the fact that no one of them entered the school-room during the entire term.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Daniel Adams, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Mabel P. Wyman of the Bridge village. This was Miss Wyman's third term in this district, and her efforts were crowned with a good degree of success, as she is a wide-awake, energetic teacher.

Fall term, Miss Cora E. Tandy of East Washington, teacher. Miss Tandy possesses the experience, ability and necessary vim for a successful teacher, and the school under her charge made rapid advancement. A public examination at the close was creditable to teacher and scholars. We are sorry to learn that Miss Tandy has retired from the profession.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

J. L. Shedd, Prudential Committee.

Summer term of nine weeks was presided over by Miss Effle S. Johnson of Bradford, who also had charge of the two previous terms. It is sufficient to say that Miss Johnson is no novice in the school-room, and the progress and discipline during the term was such as could result only from the efforts of a first-class teacher.

Fall term—in charge of J. Howard Campbell of the Bridge. This was Mr. Campbell's first attempt in teaching the young idea, and his efforts were remarkably successful. His method of instruction was thorough and systematic, and under his direction the scholars made excellent progress. This is a model school in every respect. Experience will place Mr. Campbell among our best teachers.

We are pleased to record the fact that the school-house in this district, which was aptly alluded to by one of my predecessors as "a cross between a horse-shed and a sap-house," has been thoroughly repaired and renovated the past Fall, and now presents a very attractive and cheerful appearance with its new floor, walls, desks and black-boards, internally, and new clapboards and a fresh coat of paint, externally. We wish this good work might be extended into some of the other districts.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

J. H. Hoyr, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was under the instruction of Miss Kate L. Gibson, an efficient teacher, who fulfilled her duties in a very satisfactory manner. Although this school numbered twenty-five scholars, ranging in ages from five to fourteen years, both my visits found the pupils quiet, orderly and industrious, the teacher earnest in her labors to impart knowledge; and the progress made was in every way commendable.

Fall term—Lottie M. Gibson, teacher. Miss Gibson was well adapted to her position; her natural and acquired talents combine to render her a teacher of high order. Her system of instruction was practical, encouraging, and not wholly confined to text-books. The oral geographical exercises by the little ones were excellent.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

A. L. Lewis, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Maud L. Burnham of this town, who is active, intelligent, energetic, and knows how to make her work tell. The result of her efforts was excellent. taking into consideration that the term was of only seven weeks' duration.

Fall term—Miss Phebe E. Wood, teacher. Good order maintained throughout the term. Progress quite satisfactory.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

DAVID RAY, Prudential Committee.

The prudential committee displayed good judgment in securing the services of Miss Lottie M. Gibson of the Lower Village for the Summer term. As Miss Gibson had taught this school several terms before, no time was spent in becoming acquainted with the scholars; consequently, active work commenced at the opening of the session and was kept up until its close, making such progress as was indeed commendable to both teacher and pupils.

Fall term of fourteen weeks was in charge of Miss Ada H. Buxton of the Bridge, a young lady who has won an enviable reputation as a teacher, and the success that has attended her previous efforts crowned her labors in this district. No. 9 is a banner school, and the pupils are deserving of better accommodations than the present weather-beaten structure provides.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

M. A. Dexter, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was under the instruction of Miss Phebe E. Wood of East Washington, a teacher of considerable experience, yet possessing hardly the stamina for such a school as this. She appeared to be diligent, but more strength and force are absolutely necessary to secure the best results. Progress fair; discipline lax. Without order, no school can be made a success. It is but justice to Miss Wood, however, to say that when commencing her school she was still weak from the effects of a protracted illness, which partially unfitted her for the duties necessarily devolving upon a teacher in this district.

Winter term—taught by Frank E. Buxton of Henniker. Though this was Mr. Buxton's first attempt at teaching, his success was such as would give credit to a more experienced instructor. The school was well disciplined, and an interest awakened among the scholars which led to good results.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Mrs. G. W. Ray, Prudential Committee.

We congratulate the committee on her success in securing to this district the services of such able teachers as have had in charge this school during the past year. The Summer term was taught by Miss Alice M. Perry, a young lady possessing excellent qualifications and abilities, a thorough scholar, a good disciplinarian; and the school was a most profitable one.

Fall term—Miss Jennie E. Wassall of Francestown, teacher. A young lady of experience and ability, and her efforts supplemented those of the former teacher. Parents and scholars are well pleased with the year's work.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

STEPHEN SMITH, Prudential Committee.

There was but one term of school in this district, and that a Fall term of eleven weeks, taught by Miss May E. Kellom of this town, a young lady possessing many excellent qualifications for a teacher, and who labored diligently for the success of the school. Her efforts were not seconded, however-either by parents or pupils, I know not which—as the register shows that one-third of the scholars were absent more than one-half the term, while others were absent more or less. closing examination, I noticed that excellent progress had been made by those who were more regular in attendance, which proved to my satisfaction that there was no fault to be found with the teacher. It certainly appears to your committee that some of the parents in this district exhibit but little interest in the educational advancement of their children. The school building is a relic which, without doubt, Barnum would be pleased to secure to add to his list of curiosities.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

S. C. GAMMELL, Prudential Committee.

Summer term of eight weeks and Fall term of ten weeks, taught by Miss Lucy A. Gammell of that district. During the Summer, Miss Gammell's charge comprised only three small scholars, to whom she devoted her time with excellent results. The Fall term was composed of more and larger scholars, and was a success in every particular.

DISTRICT NO. 14.

J. W. Gould, Prudential Committee.

Only one term—Winter—taught by Miss Ina L. Clement of Deering. Miss Clement is an earnest, wide-awake teacher, and her efforts in this district were fraught with good results. A longer term would be of great advantage to the scholars of the district if they can have but one, although two are needed.

DISTRICT NO. 15.

Mrs. F. B. Abbott, Prudential Committee.

Two terms—Summer and Fall, Miss Maribelle Curtis of this town, teacher. Although this was Miss Curtis' first school, she assumed the responsibilities with the ease that characterizes an experienced teacher; and her kind, unassuming manner won the love and confidence of her little flock, and the respect of the people of the district. With this feeling existing between parents, teacher and scholars, the success of the school was inevitable.

DISTRICT NO. 16.

Mrs. H. M. Murdough, Prudential Committee.

One term in the Fall, taught by Miss Addie F. Bixby of East Washington. This is one of our small schools, but the scholars are quite well advanced in their studies, considering that they are favored with but one term of school per annum. Miss Bixby is an earnest, thorough teacher, and the closing examination showed the term a profitable one.

DISTRICT NO. 17.

MARK M. HADLEY, Prudential Committee.

Summer term was taught by Miss Alma C. Hadley, a most excellent teacher—ambitious, capable, and thorough in her instruction. At my closing visit, I was well pleased with the recitations, which plainly indicated that teacher and scholars had not been idle.

Winter term was under the instruction of Miss Clara J. Nichols of Bradford, who came highly recommended, and my visit at the commencement of the term found the school in good working condition, the teacher and scholars evincing an interest that boded well for the success of the term. Owing to the severe snow storm of January 28th and 29th, your committee was unable to attend the closing exercises; but members of the district pronounced it a successful term.

During the Summer vacation, the sum of $100 was raised and judiciously expended in repairing and fitting up the school-house in this district—a long-needed investment, and one highly appreciated by the scholars.

DISTRICT NO. 18.

C. S. KIMBALL, Prudential Committee.

To report that the Summer term was a success, I need only say that the services of Miss Cora M. Kimball were retained, who needs no word of commendation from us, as her reputation as a successful teacher is already established.

Winter term was under the instruction of Miss Julia M. Gay, a fine scholar and possessed of sufficient energy to make a success of whatever she undertakes, and the scholars under her tuition made rapid progress. A small but pleasant school.

DISTRICT NO. 19.

SCOTT MOORE, Prudential Committee.

Fall term of nine weeks, taught by Miss Lottie M. Gibson. There is but one scholar in this district, yet the term was rendered more pleasant by the addition of eleven pupils from district No. 6. The school was closed abruptly one week earlier than was originally intended, on account of the illness of the teacher, and in consequence thereof your committee could not pay a second visit, and is unable to judge of its merits; but Miss Gibson's success elsewhere warrants the belief that the term was one of profit.
